APRÈS LA GUERRE

Back to the life we used to know,
    But somehow it isn't the same,
The sparkle's out of the wine o' life,
    The zest is gone from the game.
The old-time yoke is on my neck,
    I tug at the old time load,
But my heart is back in a gray old town,
    At the end of a hard white road.
